

Project Manager Offshore Wind, Service

Thinking about changing your career? Semco Maritime is looking for an experienced Project Manager for Wind Service offshore projects within our Renewables division. If you want to take lead on delivering solutions within green energy and you are passionate about your work, we are just the right company for you. Don't hesitate to apply.

In Renewable Service we have a lot of interesting opportunities in the pipeline for short- and long-term operation. Thus, we are looking for a Project Manager, who not only can manage and execute service projects to our clients but also is motivated by making a real difference in meeting the world's growing energy demand.

At Semco Maritime safety is a core value, and in this role, you will contribute to maintaining and promoting a strong safety culture while delivering innovative solutions. Above all, your work will make a real change for the global energy sector.

"The Project Managers have an important role towards the clients, service lead and the technicians, and must therefore act as an ambassador and motivator on company policies, values, cross-divisional co-operation, methods and guidelines." - Director of Service Wind, Mads Iversholt.

Your tasks & responsibilities

As Project Manager, you will be responsible for one of more of our project in the Renewable Service team. The projects are typically either long term service contracts for our clients in Germany, United Kingdom, or Denmark, or it could be repair/modifications tasks on offshore wind units, in particular offshore substations, and balance of plant assets.

As Project Manager you will be responsible for leading projects in all phases, from early Tender to Planning & Structure, and Execution and Completion, and along the way you collaborate with your project team. You will have technical and commercial responsibility for our deliveries, why a technical background supplied with additional commercial education or experience from similar task is an advantage.

You will be the primary contact towards the clients, and you will be responsible delivering according to contracts and Semco Maritime standards. It makes it key that you thrive in a leading project position, where you through sharp project plans, team companionship, and ownership on the projects ensure efficiency and progress regardless of the project phase.

Your tasks will include but are not limited to:

- Contact to clients and service leads
- Lead on both quotations and execution
- Clarification of scopes/Jobs
- Preparation of Jobs including Risk Assessment
- After Sales & search for new opportunities

You will be based onshore on our office in Hamburg, Emden or Esbjerg. For technical surveys, inspections, and preparation your work location may be offshore for shorter periods as well as you shall expect frequent travel to other Semco Maritime locations for working with team colleagues. Around 25 travel days per year should be expected. As a general rule, the job requires office attendance, but remote workdays can naturally be arranged in cases of special need.

Your profile & qualifications

To succeed in this position, you can lead large service projects with an eye for matching client needs and solutions. To us it means that have a structured and solution-oriented approach as well as you are proactive and eager to get details on point. Furthermore, you are innovative, adaptable, and collaborating, and you enjoy having responsibility.

You will be a part of a team that prioritizes safety culture and a nice and flexible working environment. We are sociable, helpful, and open to input as well as we are dedicated, executory, and work forward in a structured manner with respect for the agility that is a natural part of our core task. We want the same from you.

Besides a minimum of 5 years of relevant experience as Project Manager – preferably from the offshore industry - we imagine that you have:

- Higher technical education
- Fluent in German and English language is a requirement
- Excellent communication skills
- Ability to plan own assignments and deliver on time
- A structured and flexible approach and great interpersonal skills
